Come and get excited about teaching!

LET YOUR EXPERIENCES SPEAK FOR YOU!

This seminar will examine the background of EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING, allowing the attendees to actively work with their own ideas about experiential learning, and finally I will share my research around this topic related to my visit to your institution, and my broader research plans.

JONATHAN WESSELL is an instructor of geography for the past 27 years. he is currently at Grand Valley State University in Michigan. Mr. Wessell has been actively involved over the past 14 years with the AAG and served his colleagues for a decade in the Geography Education Specialty Group on the executive committee. During this same time he has remained active in chairing sessions on professional development in geography and experiential learning in geography. These activities have led Mr. Wessell to being the chief editor of two books with his colleagues on experiential learning in geography. Mr. Wessell has served as a reviewer for the journals: Professional Geographer and the Geography Teacher. He has reviewed grants for the National Academy of Science. Mr. Wessell is an NCGE board member, and recently returned to finish his PhD at the University of Nebraska where his research will revolve around: Experiential Learning, Gained Knowledge, and Its Use in the Classroom.
